Overseas during the voting period for the visitor levy referendum?

If you will be living or travelling overseas during the voting period (14 May - 5 June) for the QLDC referendum on the proposed visitor levy, you may be able to apply to do a special vote.

When applying for this, please provide the QLDC Electoral Officer with a forwarding address to send your voting documents. You will need to pay for the return postage. Currently, there is no ability for election documents to be scanned and emailed to overseas voters, or for overseas voters to scan and email completed voting documents back to the electoral officer.

If you are travelling, you should provide an address where you are likely to be for approximately one week after the start of the voting period. Please note that there are widely varying delivery times for New Zealand mail posted to overseas countries, so there is no guarantee that voting documents will reach you in time at the nominated address.

Refer to <https://www.nzpost.co.nz/personal/sending-internationally/world-zones> for current advice on when mail posted overseas will arrive in various locations.

Contact QLDC's Electoral Officer, Jane Robertson via jane.robertson@qldc.govt.nz or call 03 441 0499.
